Following up on my earlier email, I thought you might be interested in a blog post titled "Strengthening the transatlantic digital space" by our Vice President, Government Affairs & Public Policy, [REDACTED].

I remain at your disposal should you have any questions.

Dear [REDACTED],

I hope this finds you well.

We are looking forward to the US-EU Trade & Technology Council meeting later this month. The TTC represents an enormous opportunity to unlock the benefits of technology for a wider range of consumers, workers, and small business stakeholders, while driving an affirmative and values-based approach to digital governance in the US, EU, and beyond.

In case it's useful to you, over the summer we have put together a document that relates to the themes and working groups of the TTC -- attached here:

If you have any questions or thoughts, please let me know.

Thanks and best regards,
