Dear [REDACTED]

Sorry for the late reply!

As explained at the Novel Food working group meeting on 17 January 2018, according to our lawyers, the sanctioning of infringements of the obligation to market only approved novel foods is linked to the Union list. That means, we had to wait for the establishment of the Union list before starting the national legislative procedure. This procedure takes in Germany approximately six months. So we expect being able to notify the national penalty rules on the new Novel Food Regulation to the Commission mid this year.

Unfortunately, the draft Ordinance cannot be disclosed at this stage.

Apart from that, our Federal States, which are competent for food control in Germany, can take action in case of infringements based on their administrative law.

Best regards,

Dear colleagues,

[REDACTED]

As regards Art 29 there are MS that have not yet replied to the Commission. We have received a request for access to documents, in particular the requester want to know what MS have notified the Commission on Art 29 and the content of the measures.

For those MS that already delivered the information we tend to assume that the information can be disclosed unless you say otherwise. For those MS indicating that there is a draft not yet approved, can you pls let us know whether the draft can be disclosed? For the MS that have not yet replied pls do it.

As we have a specific deadline for replying to the requester, pls reply to us on the above requests by 9 February at the latest.

Best regards,

[REDACTED]
