Dear Mr. Szapiro,
Dear [REDACTED],

Thank you very much for your message and considering Litarion as a partner in the EU Battery Alliance. Herewith, I would like to reconfirm our interest in participating and in supporting the strategic initiative of an EU Battery Alliance.

We are convinced that a common approach of European players active in the field of Lithium-ion batteries is necessary to set up a competitive production and supply of Lithium-ion batteries for the European industry. Litarion has an installed production capacity of about 500 MWh of electrodes and separators, the key components of a battery cell. To our knowledge, this is the largest installed production capacity in Europe, if we exclude the recent activities of the two big Korean players in Poland and Hungary. Litarion has a history of supplying these components for more than 3 years in a serial mass production for the Daimler e-Smart car. Litarion has a proven technology and production experience on highest automotive level.

Litarion is willing to play an active role in this alliance and we are also convinced that we can contribute to this alliance with our production capabilities, technology, know-how and experience in the field.

We are looking forward to this initiative. Please keep us informed about the next steps.

Mit freundlichen Grüßen | Best regards,
