Subject: EU Battery Alliance- Expressing DNVGL interest for joining

Dear [redacted] and Mr. Szapiro,

We refer to the letter "High level meeting on EU Battery Production-Follow up" of October 31st from Mr. Sefcovic with an invitation for DNVGL to join the EU Battery Alliance. We thank you for the invitation to join and with this email we confirm our interest and commitment for joining.

The DNV GL Group works in the maritime, oil & gas and renewable and power transmission sectors - with the common purpose of safeguarding life, property and the environment. With 14,000 employees – mostly engineers and other experts in more than 100 countries, DNV GL is a truly European based world leading provider of independent certification and verification services as well as various forms of expert advice to the electrification, oil & gas, and maritime sectors worldwide. Assisting governments, energy providers and other stakeholders manage the world's growing demand for energy, while balancing costs, reliability and the environment - the so-called "energy trilemma" - DNV GL is engaged in most aspects of the energy value chain including renewables, storage and their integration into the grid, smart grids, offshore oil & gas safety and pipelines, and energy efficiency. It offers world-class certification and testing of electricity transmission and distribution, demand-response management technologies and renewable equipment.

We are looking forward to contributing and to the further dialogue.

Best regards for DNV GL AS
