Dear [REDACTED],

as COVID-19 continues its relentless march across our world, Microsoft is more focused than ever on helping to empower every person and every organization to operate successfully in a time of extraordinary stress and address unprecedented challenges. We strongly believe it's going to take the private and public sectors working together to turn the tide on COVID-19.

We have been closely following the developments regarding the spread of COVID-19 also in Europe and moved quickly to strengthen our capacities to support the operational continuity of many European industries, administrative bodies, healthcare and educational institutions, in close cooperation with many governments across Europe

During this extraordinary time, I am reaching out to suggest a call between Commissioner Janez Lenarčič and [REDACTED] of Microsoft to discuss how we can strengthen our support and share our experience across Europe and the world.

We would be thrilled if Commissioner Lenarčič would be interested in a short call.

Kind regards,

[REDACTED]
