Dear [REDACTED],

I will send you a Skype invitation for 19 May.
Please send me the email address of your colleague so that I can invite him as well.

Dear [REDACTED] – I have just spoken to [REDACTED] and he suggested that we keep the slot on 19th May at 4pm. We would need 30 minutes.

Can you please confirm if that slot is still available and advise how we should connect. I will be joined by one colleague so the best is to have a video conference / audio conference system that you provide or that we provide.

Thanks for your help.

Dear Mr [REDACTED],

[REDACTED] will be working from home next week, but he has a lot of internal meetings. I'll ask him to give a quick call on your mobile [REDACTED] on Monday, if possible between 3:30pm and 4pm.

Have a nice weekend,

Dear Ms [REDACTED],

Thanks for quick reply and your help setting up a phone call. Tuesday 19th May at 4pm would work well for me.

However, if possible I would like a very quick chat with [REDACTED] next week (5 mins only) as I would like to ask him something in relation to engagement with the Commissioner. Would that be possible?

Regards

Dear Mr [REDACTED],

Thank you for reaching out to [REDACTED].
I would be happy to arrange a phone call with [REDACTED], preferably in the week of 18 May.
Would Tuesday 19 May at 4pm be suitable for you?
Looking forward to hearing from you,
Regards,

Dear [Redacted],

I hope you and your loved ones are well.

I am contacting you to see if we can find time for a quick chat on the phone in the coming couple of days in relation to the covid pandemic and responses. Please let me know if this is possible and how I could contact you.

Regards
