Dear [REDACTED],

I hope this email finds you well and that you are settling into the role at the Cabinet nicely.

I was wondering if we could perhaps schedule a meeting at your earliest convenience- either for me to come in to see you or for the Board and myself to come and see you please?

Kindest regards,
[REDACTED]

Dear [REDACTED],

I have now gotten a more reliable confirmation of your next career move to the Cabinet and so I feel it is the right moment to congratulate you on a job very well done, to thank you for our cooperation and to congratulate you on the new role. Here's hoping we continue our fruitful and open work together in the coming mandate.

Once you have had the chance to settle-in I would appreciate if we could do a catch-up and I will also be sending you a more formal meeting request to have a meeting with the EDiMA Board.

Kindest regards
[REDACTED]
