Dear all,

Firstly, thanks for providing this information.

We would like to know whether you would be happy to have a meeting with the organisations behind the Right to Repair campaign, which is represented by environmental NGOs, repair café networks and repair businesses.

For obvious reasons we are very interested in the forthcoming initiative from your unit on right to repair, and believe we are relevant stakeholders to engage in the development of this policy.

We also discussed this with [Redacted] from BEUC and she would be happy to have a joint meeting together.

However if you prefer to meet the civil society groups separately this is of course fine.

Looking forward to hearing from you.

Best wishes,

There is indeed an initiative being set in preparation on this.
It was also announced in the Consumer Agenda and linked to the review of the Sales of Goods Directive (the directive dealing with the legal guarantee).
A preparatory study is expected to be launched in the coming months.
Subject: right to repair legislation 2022

I hope you are well and had a good summer.
We noticed that in the letter of intent from the state of the union address today under the section key initiatives for 2022, there is a line: “Legislative proposal on the right to repair”.
We were wondering if this was a mistake, or if this is just shorthand for several other initiatives (e.g. SPI and empowering the consumer), or if indeed a separate piece of legislation for right to repair is in the pipeline? Any information you are able to provide on this would be very welcome.

Thanks and best wishes,
