

Safety-by-Design

Sharing Insights on Protecting Teens Online

November 30th • 10:00-11:30 CET

TikTok, a leading destination for short-form mobile video, cordially invites you to attend our upcoming virtual event Safety-by-Design: Sharing Insights on Protecting Teens Online taking place on November 30th from 10:00-11:30 CET.

The event brings together renowned child safety experts to discuss the latest thinking, which includes brand new research commissioned by TikTok, on how to keep teens safe in the digital world, working together with parents and educators.

The panellists, which will include TikTok's Head of Safety Public Policy, will also reflect on the role of the draft Digital Services Act and the EU Child Safety Strategy in guiding the response of platforms on child safety issues.

Finally, this event will be taking place under Chatham House rules.

We hope you will be able to join us.

**Register for Zoom Event**

The event will take place as follows:

10:00	Welcome, House Rules
10:05	Presentation of new TikTok research by report authors
10:20	Panel discussion between: Alexandra Evans Head of Safety Public Policy, Europe, TikTok [REDACTED] UKCIS - UK Council on Digital Safety [REDACTED] German Digital Opportunities Foundation [REDACTED] Policy Officer, Digital Services and Platforms unit, DG CNECT, European Commission
11:00	Q&amp;A with attendees
11:20	Closing remarks