Meeting Google safety engineering centre – February 8th

Representative of Google presented company's content moderation policy abased on 4 r's - remove, reduce, raise, reward. More specifically child sexual abuse online is tackled through detection, reporting, deterrence and collaboration. Technologies used include both hashing and algorithms. They elaborated on the approach to age identification and collaboration with specialists to avoid ethnicity bias and on the efforts to ensure wellbeing of reviewers. During the discussion participants noted the need for a legal certainty when it comes to access to data to train the AI and to enable exchange of data with other companies.
