Main issues discussed
Eurosif is a federation of national associations representing asset managers, asset owners, civil society, academics, trade unions, with a particular focus on sustainability related matters.

- Eurosif expresses concerns about reputational risks linked to the heterogeneity in the application of the SFDR, which is used by the industry more as a labelling scheme, and the definition of “sustainable investment”.

- Eurosif considers that COM should either complement the SFDR with other legislative initiatives to provide clarity on the markets and help retail investors, such as via a label; or rethink the SFDR and transform it into a real labelling scheme.

- Eurosif considers the scope of the COM public consultation on ESG ratings is too narrow; interlinkages with the SFDR and MiFID sustainability preferences should be taken into account.
