Cab Breton restated:

- that net neutrality is not and will not be put in question in the context of the debate on the contribution to the telecom infrastructure. The Commission intends – as always – to listen to all interested parties and collect factual data before taking action
- that a more effective control of child sexual abuses online and offline is a priority for the Commission
- that the objective of the e-ID wallet is precisely to reduce the amount of data asked of users and to put them more in control. The currently available solutions are in fact much more intrusive and do not achieve this result
