3. ASSESSMENT UNDER REGULATION 1049/2001

Following an examination of the identified documents under the provisions of Regulation 1049/2001 and after having consulted the relevant third parties, we have arrived at the conclusion that full access can be granted to one document. Partial access can be granted to the remaining documents as their full disclosure is prevented by exceptions to the right of access laid down in Article 4 of Regulation 1049/2001. Part of Document 6 has been also redacted as being outside the scope of the request.

A. Full disclosure

Document 1 is being fully disclosed. Please find it enclosed to this letter.

B. Partial access
(i) Protection of privacy and integrity of the individual

Disclosure of parts of Documents 2 - 9 is prevented by the exception concerning the protection of privacy and integrity of the individual outlined in Article 4(1)(b) Regulation 1049/2001, since they contain the following personal data:

- Names and contact details of Commission staff members not pertaining to the senior management
- Names, functions, contact details and handwritten signatures of other natural persons.

Article 9(1)(b) of the Data Protection Regulation\(^1\) does not allow the transmission of these personal data, except if you prove that it is necessary to have the data transmitted to you for a specific purpose in the public interest and where there is no reason to assume that the legitimate interests of the data subject might be prejudiced. In your request, you do not express any particular interest to have access to these personal data nor do you put forward any arguments to establish the necessity to have the data transmitted for a specific purpose in the public interest.

Consequently, I conclude that, pursuant to Article 4(1)(b) Regulation 1049/2001, access cannot be granted to the personal data contained in the requested documents, as the need to obtain access thereto for a purpose in the public interest has not been substantiated and there is no reason to think that the legitimate interests of the individuals concerned would not be prejudiced by disclosure of the personal data concerned.

(ii) Protection of commercial interests

Article 4(2) first indent of Regulation 1049/2001 provides that the institutions shall refuse access to a document where disclosure would undermine the protection of commercial interests of a natural or legal person, including intellectual property, unless there is an overriding public interest in disclosure.

This provision must be interpreted in light of Article 339 of the Treaty of the Functioning of the European Union (TFEU), which requires staff members of the EU institutions to refrain from disclosing information of the kind covered by the obligation of professional secrecy, in particular information about undertakings, their business relations or their cost components.

Parts of Document 9 are covered by the abovementioned exception as they contain confidential and business sensitive information relating to the concerned third party’s activities and positions. Disclosure of these parts of the document would seriously affect the third party’s relations and position in the market and would undermine their commercial interests. Therefore, we have blanked out the relevant parts of the document as their disclosure is prevented by the exception to the right of access laid down in Article 4(2), first indent of Regulation 1049/2001.

(iii) Protection of the decision-making process

The first subparagraph of Article 4(3) of Regulation 1049/2001 provides that ‘[a]ccess to a document, drawn up by an institution for internal use or received by the institution, which relates to a matter where the decision has not been taken by the institution, shall be refused if disclosure of the document would seriously undermine the institution’s decision-making process, unless there is an overriding public interest in disclosure.’

Parts of Document 4 are covered by the abovementioned exception of the first subparagraph of Article 4(3) since they contain sensitive information with regard to ongoing procedure relating to the Artificial Intelligence Act. They also contain considerations, reflections and views of the Commission services and of other parties. The content of these parts of the document is subject to ongoing discussions and deliberations.

The Commission services must be free to explore all possible options with regard to ongoing initiatives, policy processes and implementation of legislation. The risk of disclosing sensitive information regarding the Commission services’ preliminary views while the decision-making processes on the issues at question is still ongoing would deter them from freely expressing their opinions and having frank, internal discussions. Speculations and misinterpretations of the public on the views, positions, considerations put forward during the decision-making processes would affect the exploration of different policy options and unduly restrict the Commission’s internal space to think, exposing the Commission to external pressure. Disclosure of these parts of Document 4 would therefore seriously undermine the ongoing decision-making process. This risk is also reasonably foreseeable and not purely hypothetical.

4. OVERRIDING PUBLIC INTEREST IN DISCLOSURE

The exceptions laid down in Articles 4(2) and 4(3) of Regulation 1049/2001 apply, unless there is an overriding public interest in the disclosure of documents. Such an interest must, firstly, be a public interest and, secondly, outweigh the harm caused by disclosure. We have examined whether there could be an overriding public interest in the disclosure of the parts of the document which are being withheld but we have not been able to identify such an interest.

5. REUSE OF DOCUMENTS

You may reuse public documents which have been produced by the European Commission or by public and private entities on its behalf based on the Commission Decision on the reuse of the Commission documents. You may reuse the part of Document 2 originating from the Commission, Document 4 and Document 9 free of charge and for non-commercial and commercial purposes provided that the source is acknowledged and that you do not distort the original meaning or message of the documents. Please note that the Commission does not assume liability stemming from the reuse.

Please note that Documents 4 and 9 were drawn up for internal use under the responsibility of the relevant Commission services. They solely reflect the services’ interpretation of the interventions made and do not set out any official position of the third parties to which the documents refer, which were not consulted on their content. They do not reflect the position of the Commission and cannot be quoted as such.

Document 1, part of Document 2, Document 3 and Documents 5-8 originate from third parties. Please note that they are disclosed to you based on Regulation (EC) No 1049/2001.
However, this disclosure is without prejudice to the rules on intellectual property, which may limit your right to reproduce or exploit the released documents without the agreement of the originators, who may hold an intellectual property right on them. The European Commission does not assume any responsibility from their reuse.

6. CONFIRMATORY APPLICATION
