My recommendation is negative. This should be taken up by VP Sefcovic. Energy Union is an important topic. Recently there has been a surge and a profusion of conference funded by stakeholders (mostly fossil fuel and nuclear energy producers). My recommendation is for the President to leave these to others and notably to VP Sefcovic. Later in the mandate (once the Energy Union becomes more concrete) there will be opportunities to deliver key note messages on energy.

Dear President,

On behalf of my Director, Nathalie Furrer, I am writing to invite you to speak at Friends of Europe's forthcoming high-level conference "The new geopolitics of energy: winners and losers", which will be held on Thursday, 2 July 2015 in Brussels.

The event will discuss the changing world energy landscape and market balances in the context of the Middle East turmoil, the Ukraine conflict and the emergence of North America as a major energy producer. It will focus on the implications of these trends on the global energy mix, energy diplomacy, security of supply and energy prices.

Please refer to the attached invitation, as well as the programme for more information.

As you may know, Friends of Europe, a leading European think-tank, is part of the Europe's World Group, an alliance that also includes Europe's World, the influential policy journal and Debating Europe, the online citizens' platform. You may click here to find more information about our group and activities.

We are convinced that your participation would bring a crucial contribution to the debate and we would be delighted if you could accept this invitation. I remain available should you have any questions and I look forward to hearing from you.

Yours sincerely,
