Subject: Re: Latest on the killing of prominent human rights defender Berta Cáceres/Honduras

Dear all

The reactions to the killing of Berta Cáceres are many.

In Honduras some protests have taken place (nothing major yet but Friday could bring more) and others (smaller) are planned for larger cities around the world in front of Honduran embassies.

I spoke by phone with the mother and the daughter tonight and expressed my sincere condolences and sorrow.

I plan to go together with the US ambassador and maybe ambassadors from France and Spain to Esperanza tomorrow for a wake. The mother told me they would receive us 'with open arms'. Thus I will be on the road most of the day but should be able to reach by phone.

More widely there is a certain risk of criticism due to European - albeit not EU - funding for the project she protested most.

Best
