Subject: Fwd: Join NDI at the Democratic National Convention

Dear Friends,

The invitations were sent from the event email address and there have been instances of some invitations going to spam folders and not being received by the invitees. It is difficult to establish the extent of this problem so I am taking the liberty of writing to you from my own email address to make sure that you are aware of the invitation in case you did not receive it already.

About ILF

NDI has been asked by the Democratic National Committee to host international visitors at every Democratic National Convention since 1984. In Philadelphia, ILF will bring together current and former government officials, parliamentarians, diplomats and senior political party leaders from over 100 countries to observe the nomination process of the Democratic Party's candidate for President and Vice President of the United States.

Events

Throughout the convention week, NDI will hold a series of special events for the international visitors. Participants will attend morning and afternoon seminars on U.S. politics, and domestic and foreign policy issues defining the presidential election. Bi-partisan panel discussions will be led by Democratic and Republican leaders, journalists and opinion makers.

Each evening, NDI will host its International Leader’s Hospitality Suite at Citizens Bank Park (the stadium where the professional baseball team, the Phillies, play), where live-television broadcasts will allow participants to view the convention proceedings at the nearby Wells Fargo Center.

We also expect to secure a limited number of credentials for the convention hall itself, and will provide them to program participants on a rotating basis from the hospitality suite. Credentials for the convention hall will be limited, but NDI will do its best to get delegates inside the proceedings.

To learn more about our schedule, visit the ILF 2016 website.

RSVP by May 6, 2016

As you can imagine, there is great international interest in attending this year’s convention, and because hotel and program space are limited, participants will be accepted on a first-come basis.

Please let me know immediately if you have not received the invitation and are interested in attending so that we can resend it to you
