Dear Karl,

Thank you for sharing this "work in progress", which we got just in time to reassure our upper levels of hierarchy that your efforts are ongoing and congratulations for the work done so far .

However let me also share our feeling that there is still a long way to go until this would become the " ambitious and credible " commitment that we are looking for from value chain participants. I guess that in particular the specifics on the different " platforms " should provide some of that ambition .

We are - together with our colleagues from DG GROW - available for further discuss, as you see fit.

Best regards
