Dear

Thank you for your comprehension; yesterday's external meeting lasted well into the night, thus I postponed my reply to today.

I have looked at the application in case Allgeier and the volume of annexes in this matter. Taking account of this particular volume, but also taking account of my involvement in the pre-contentious proceedings, which means that I am already familiar with a number of parameters of the case, I would suggest an all inclusive lump sum of 8,500 €. (this is inspired by the European Commission practice, both as regards the principle of lump sums and the range of fees re. staff cases).

This amount covers the hypothesis of the written proceedings, i.e. drafting and finalising the statement of defence and any written answers to questions + preparing and attending the oral hearing, including all travel and accommodation costs to Luxembourg.

I will be travelling tomorrow and passing by my office on next Tuesday, in the evening.

Kind regards and wishing you a nice weekend,

Bertrand Wägenbaur
