

channels or the European Investigation Order, as providers of OTT services receive more cross-border requests than traditional telecoms providers that traditionally only operate within one country. It was suggested that more clarity should be provided, e.g. in a recital, to avoid different interpretations.

The meeting was concluded with the recognition that the co-legislators are likely to interpret the e-Privacy proposal in the light of the outcome of the Commission's work on cross-border access to electronic evidence. The importance of a common EU approach was underlined.
