EC Taxud C2:

Main issues presented by ECMA:
- Main characteristics of cigars and cigarillos:
  ECMA presented the main characteristics of the market
  ECMA supported the conclusions on cigars and cigarillos of the Comm report of January 2018
  ECMA insisted that cigars and cigarillos continue to be treated differently from other tobacco products
  ECMA noted the ‘low tax bearing capacity’ of the industry

- Border line cigarillos:
  ECMA insisted that the directive leaves sufficient flexibility to Member States to develop a tax structure to reduce the incentives for low-price cigarillos
  Participants noted that the production of so-called borderline cigarillos were different form the more classic and traditional cigars and cigarillos
  They however noted that it would difficult to draw a line based on the technical specifications of these products

- Definition of smoking tobacco:
  Participants noted the alleged confusion in DE and SE after the EUCJ judgement on Eko Tabak

- Directive 2011/64/EU on the structure and rates of excise duty applied to manufactured tobacco:
  We noted that ECMA position on a possible review of the rates as regards cigars and cigarillos was well noted, notably on maintaining the current ‘tax gap’
  We indicated that we had taken note of ECMA submission to the OPC.
  We provided for a clarification of the timing of the external study and the evaluation of the Directive
