Rec. -1 (new)			-1. The financial crisis in 2007 and 2008 exposed important shortcomings in financial supervision, both in particular cases and in relation to the financial system as a whole. Nationally based supervisory models have lagged behind financial globalisation and the integrated and interconnected reality of European financial markets, in which many financial institutions operate across borders. The crisis exposed shortcomings in the areas of cooperation, coordination, consistent application of Union law and trust between national competent authorities.	-1. 				(1a) In its conclusions following its meeting of 18 and 19 June 2009, the European Council recommended that a European System of Financial Supervisors, comprising three new ESAs, be established. It also recommended that the system should be aimed at upgrading the quality and consistency of national supervision, strengthening the oversight of cross-border groups, establishing a single European rulebook applicable to all financial institutions in the internal market. It emphasised that the ESAs should also enjoy supervisory powers in respect of credit rating agencies, and invited the Commission to prepare concrete proposals as to how the ESFS could play a strong role in crisis situations.
