Dear all,

UPM is pleased with this important opportunity to provide input to the consultation on SUPD definitions and terminology, as related to the draft guidelines.

The topic is extremely important to us as UPM is one of the leading producers of paper, specialty papers, pulp and labelling materials. Our goal is to develop increasingly circular and environmental sound products for consumers. We consider that our products should be considered as part of the solution in reducing the impact of plastics to the environment.

Therefore we are pleased to provide the enclosed feedback to the consultation and your consideration. And therefore it is of utmost importance that SUPD definitions are clear for all stakeholders.

We would also be pleased to be kept aware of future developments with this subject and remain available to provide further clarification on any of the subjects referred to in our position paper.

Yours sincerely,
