[REDACTED],

Thank you for your mail.

I have checked with [REDACTED] and his only availability for this week is on Thursday, 9 July any time between 13h00 and 15h30 (which means that the call can finish at the latest at 15h30).

Would be this timing also suitable on your side?

Please kindly check and let us know.

With kind regards,

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

Following my call just now, let me kindly forward you the below email.

I would like to follow up and check with you if [REDACTED] would have some availability still this week for a phone call with [REDACTED], and my colleague [REDACTED] to discuss BusinessEurope's recently published paper on Trade and Climate.

I remain at your disposal to find other suitable timeslot if necessary.

Thank you and best regards,

[Redacted]

Hope you are doing well. You may have seen that BusinessEurope recently published a new paper called "What trade can do for climate". In this paper we propose a number of measures and areas of action on multilateral, bilateral and unilateral level that can contribute to the promotion of climate action through Europe's trade policy, such as renewed efforts to finish negotiations on the WTO Environmental Goods Agreement and pushing global standards on green products and services, or removing tariff and non-tariff barriers for environmental goods and services. We of course also cover Carbon Border Adjustments (CBAs) in the paper.

My [Redacted] and I would be interested to present the paper to you. Would you happen to be available somewhere next week, for example on:

- Wednesday 8 July 10:00-11:00.
- Friday 10 July 14:30-15:30.

I look forward hearing from you.

Kind regards,
