Dear Mrs [REDACTED],

I checked [REDACTED]'s calendar and the meeting is possible on 3 July at 11h30-12h00. Our colleague [REDACTED] will participate as well.
If ok with you I'll send an electronic invite for a virtual meeting.
Best regards

Dear Mrs [REDACTED],
I'm referring to the exchange below on setting up a meeting between Mrs [REDACTED] and Mrs Groenfeldt.

I do confirm that the meeting should be a virtual one (current rules regarding COVID-19 prevent from physical meetings).

Mrs Groenfeldt has still some timeslots available on the 3rd of July :

10H30- 11h

Or

11H30 – 12h

Or 14h-14H30.

Let me know if it is possible from your side.

Best regards,

Sure Mrs. Groenfeld and many thanks for your offer to meet. Would you prefer a virtual one via webex or a meeting at our BASF office or yours?
Our assistant, [Redacted], will get in touch with Mrs. [Redacted] to fix a date.
Thanks and best regards!

Dear Ms. [redacted],

My colleagues have forwarded me your emails and your meeting requests as I am responsible for the ETS file within the cabinet of Executive Vice President Vestager. My apologies for not having come back to you sooner.

I'd be happy to have a meeting with you on the topic of the ETS State aid guidelines.

May I suggest that your office gets in touch with Ms Leborgne, in copy of this email, to set up the meeting?

Kind regards
Louise

State aid Guidelines

Dear Mr. [REDACTED],

Many thanks again for the very good discussion at BusinessEurope's conference call this morning.

In follow-up of the point I raised with regards to the "indirect cost compensation under the EU ETS state aid guidelines", attached please also find BASF's submission to the public consultation from last March.
As mentioned, for sectors that are so close to the threshold and really borderline, we'd appreciate a deep analysis and qualitative assessment.

I would be keen to speak further with you and/or [REDACTED] about this important file and/or reply to any further questions you may have.

Many thanks in advance for your consideration and kind regards!
