Dear Mr. Faury,

I trust this letter finds you in good health, particularly so during these exceptional times. I would like to thank you for your kind congratulations on my appointment as Chief Executive of the European Defence Agency, which were much appreciated.

I would like to assure you of my personal commitment to support our common efforts to advance European defence cooperation during my tenure as Chief Executive,. The strengthening of the European Defence Technological and Industrial Base directly contributes to this mission. In this framework, EDA's engagement with the European defence industry is crucial and focuses on key areas of capability development, research, technology and innovation, as well as wider EU Policies.

I look forward to meeting you at a mutually convenient time when we can further discuss these important topics.
