Subject: rencontre virtuelle L'Oréal

Bonjour M. Colombani

Je rebondis un peu tardivement sur cette introduction [REDACTED] et m'en excuse.

Nous nous sommes rencontrés à deux ou trois reprises je pense. La dernière étant lors de votre intervention virtuelle au WIL forum mais avant avec le Club des Grandes entreprises françaises.

Je me demandais si vous avez un peu de temps à me consacrer pour échanger autour du green deal et certains sujets prioritaires ? J'aurais notamment aborder avec vous ce qui est attendu de l'industrie au niveau européen dans un contexte COVID-19 et post COVID-19 si particulier. Vous savez peut-être qu'en juin nous avons pris de nouveaux engagements de développement durable réunis dans un programme appelé 'L'Oréal for the Future' qui semble assez aligné avec le Green Deal. Mais c'est un agenda de progrès :

En espérant qu'une telle rencontre peut être possible, je reste dans l'attente de votre réponse.

Je vous prie d'agréer mes salutations les meilleures;

Subject: Paris Peace Forum - session L'Oréal

Bonjour Antoine
Comme convenu tu trouveras ci-dessous la description de la session du Paris Peace Forum si tu dois partager en interne. Comme tu peux voir nous attendons toujours la confirmation de quelques-uns des participants. Je suis confiant qu'aujourd'hui les porte-parole du Stockholm Resilience Center et du CDP.
N'hésitez pas à me dire si tu as besoin d'autres informations et merci encore d'avoir accepté d'y participer !
J'en profite pour te présenter [REDACTED] avec qui je travaille beaucoup et qui aimerait bien te rencontrer à l'occasion (de manière virtuelle évidemment).
A bientôt

The Paris Peace Forum

The Paris Peace Forum was launched in 2018 by French President Emmanuel Macron to promote collective action on today's most pressing global issues. The inaugural Forum attracted 65 Heads of State and convened leaders from governmental and corporate sectors as well as from civil society.

The Paris Peace Forum is now an annual international event focused on reviving and improving global governance. Conceived as a response to rising tensions and the deterioration of the multilateral system, the Forum is based on a simple idea: cooperative solutions are key to tackling global problems and to ensuring durable peace.

This year the Forum will be taking place November 12th and 13th and has been transformed into a fully digital event in light of the Covid situation. On November 13th [REDACTED] will moderate a panel discussion on how companies are navigating the complexity of climate change and implementing multi-dimensional approaches to mitigate the climate risks.

The panel discussion will be a "closed-door" session with only about 25 Forum attendees made up of distinguished leaders from government, business and NGOs.

Our proposed Panel for the Forum: How organizations navigate the complexity of climate change

Although companies are accustomed to adapting to changing market conditions, the challenge of adapting to multi-factorial environmental risks is far greater. The complexity of climate risks for companies is further increased when also accounting for the potential societal effects induced by climate change.

However, some companies are trying to navigate the complexity by adopting innovative approaches such as the planetary boundaries framework or internal carbon pricing that can capture & measure their environmental impacts and thus help define a mitigation strategy.

The present round-table will debate the newest ways companies or other organizations can future-proof their business models and sustainability strategies. What solutions are available and what organizational changes would they imply? The panel will include perspectives from a wide array of leaders from the corporate world as well as public institutions and civil society.

Themes	Proposed Participants
