Main issues discussed

I took part today in a webinar on the banking package organised by the Association of German banks, together with M. ■■■■ and ■■■■. Both were very positive about the package, which they viewed as well-balanced and sensible in the policy choices made. Most of the discussion focused on the treatment of unrated corporates. The transition period in this respect was welcomed but both participants called for solutions for the steady-state, which should be known sufficiently ahead of the end of the transition. The possibility of pooling bank data to provide the needed ratings was mentioned by both participants as a possible way forward that should be investigated.
