Dear [REDACTED]

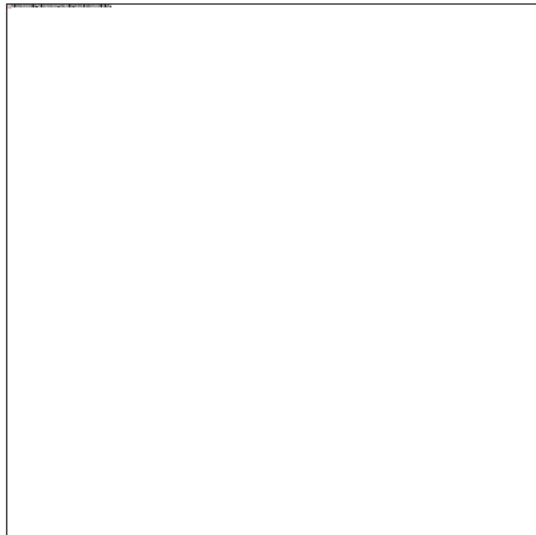

I hope this email finds you well, and successfully adapting to "work from home" conditions.

I appreciate that we are all busy with other more pressing concerns at the moment, but nonetheless wanted to take the opportunity to follow up on recent meetings and share our initial position paper on the Digital Services Act. This paper reflects our current thinking, but will naturally evolve and develop as the policy discussion resumes in the coming months.

Once the revised timeline is clearer, we are looking forward to participating in the future consultations concerning the DSA.

With best wishes,

[REDACTED]
