Dear [REDACTED]

Many thanks for your email.

We are happy to adapt to the schedule of Mr Mes – if mornings of 2 and 3 March work for you I will take it back to the automotive value chain and aim to confirm shortly.

Best regards,

Dear [REDACTED]

Daniel will be happy to attend but 24 Feb will not work. Would there be an option in the first week of March, say the mornings of 2nd or 3rd?

Best regards,

Subject: Follow-up from the transport industry value chain – workshop on the transformation of the automotive industry by 2050 in the context of green recovery – ZF Group, BMW Group, Total, Bosch, Daimler, Mahle International

Dear Mr Mes,

I would like to follow up the meeting you had with the automotive industry value chain on 2 June 2020 discussing the technological transition of the industry in line with the EU climate goals, including ZF Group, BMW, Total, Mahle International, Daimler, Bosch.

The legislative agenda has developed since then, as has the industry, and the situation itself due to the corona pandemic and the recovery in response.

Following the constructive discussion, we would very much appreciate a discussion on the recent updates and policy thinking. I propose on behalf of the informal value chain coalition to organise a virtual roundtable. For an interesting angle, the members would happily take you on a short 'virtual plant tour' by bringing together couple of production/site managers from the factory floor to discuss the practical terms of the transformation to cut back the emissions. To keep the event dynamic we are happy to work with an external moderator - [REDACTED], former MEP who has worked on transport emissions as a coordinator of the ENVI Committee.

We would envisage the 75-minute roundtable for the end of February/ beginning of March, but I would like to accommodate to your schedule which is surely busy. I propose 24 February 10:00 or the following week.

Please let me know if you would accept this invitation and thank you in advance for your consideration. I am happy to answer any follow up questions.

Kind regards,

[REDACTED]
