Dear [REDACTED]

An in-person meeting is possible on 10 November at 12:00 (max 45 min). Shall we block it?

Kind regards,

Dear [REDACTED]

Yes, we heard of the strike as well and have had to rearrange a bit of transport to accommodate. The meeting with [REDACTED] is very important to [REDACTED] and CEO, and we would prefer an in-person meeting if at all possible. Is there a possibility for an in-person meeting the next day, 10 November? [REDACTED] has availability between 11.15-13.00 CET.

Kind regards,

[REDACTED]

Dear [REDACTED]

We have just received a notification that on 9 November, there will be a general strike in Brussels and the public transport will be significantly disrupted. Regrettably, we can no longer keep the meeting as a physical one but instead would be pleased to offer you an online meeting. Would it be that acceptable on your side?

Kind regards,

[REDACTED]

Dear [Redacted]

Please find the requested Visitor Registration form attached to this email. We would be grateful if your office could provide us with the list of attendees from the European Commission side so that we can include it in [Redacted] briefing packet. No rush of course, but if we could have the list before 28 October it would be most appreciated.

Kind regards,

Dear [Redacted]

Thank you for your confirmation. The meeting is well pencilled in our agenda on 9 November at 11:00 (45 min). In relation to that, could you please complete the excel table enclosed so we can organise your access to the BERL building?

We would also kindly invite you to arrive 10 min in advance as it takes time for logistics and security control.

I remain at your disposal should you need any help or have further questions.

With best regards,

Dear [REDACTED],

Thank you kindly for your feedback. Regrettably, 7 October in the morning is not possible for Ms Braun and we would be pleased to propose you instead a slot on 9 November at 11:00. Would it be that also suitable on your side?

Kind regards,

Dear [REDACTED]

Thank you for your response to our meeting request. Stora Enso's [REDACTED] and CEO would be very happy to meet with [REDACTED] on 7 October, however, her availability is quite limited on that date. [REDACTED] is a keynote speaker at a conference in the Charlemagne building from 09.00-10.30, and then has a meeting with DG AGRI in the Berlymont building from 12.00-12.45. [REDACTED] must leave for the airport no later than 12.50. This means the only time we can offer is between the conference and DG AGRI meeting.

If the morning of 7 October is not a possibility for [REDACTED] schedule, may we suggest any time that fits [REDACTED] schedule on 9 November, when [REDACTED] will next be in Brussels?

I look forward to your reply.

Kind regards,

You don't often get email from [REDACTED]@ec.europa.eu. Learn why this is important

Thank you for your e-mail and request on behalf of Stora Enso President and CEO [REDACTED] to meet with [REDACTED]. [REDACTED] would be pleased to accommodate such a meeting on 7 October at 16:00 in Berlyamont building. If agenda allows it, [REDACTED] may be joined by [REDACTED], Member in the Cabinet of Commissioner Sinkevicius. Would it be that acceptable and suitable on your side?

Thank you and kind regards,

CEO [REDACTED]

Dear [REDACTED]

I hope this message finds you well.

I am writing on behalf of Stora Enso. We are a renewable materials company that employs 18 000 people in the EU, with decades of experience in sustainable forest management (SFM) as well as in the manufacturing of renewable, circular and sustainable packaging.

Stora Enso fully supports the Green Deal objectives of protecting biodiversity and achieving climate neutrality. Our products substitute fossil-based alternatives and save approximately 18 million tonnes of CO2 entering the atmosphere (2019).

Having said that, I firmly believe there is always room for improvement. All companies, and other relevant actors, must continue to evolve, including our industry. Businesses across the world need to step up to the challenge of operating within planetary boundaries. It is the right thing to do – but it also represents the best opportunity to ensure the relevance of business in the future. The task for us as companies is to use this quest as the lens for product innovation and business model transformation. It is in that spirit I am reaching out to you to ask for a meeting with our President and CEO Annica Bresky on how we can best ensure ways forward that will mitigate climate change through responsible and sustainable business operations and product innovations.

Woody biomass has a role to play in the European bioeconomy. At Stora Enso, we believe that wood must be used to manufacture renewable and circular products that will increasingly replace fossil-based ones, thus decarbonising value chains. We are keen to navigate our way through this complex landscape to find the right balance. [REDACTED] would therefore welcome the opportunity to meet you and explore how we can find this balance in the ongoing forestry policy dossiers such as the deforestation and nature restoration proposal as well as in more upcoming policies such as for example monitoring and observation.

Furthermore, she would also like to take the opportunity to discuss the upcoming proposals for the revision of the Packaging and Packaging Waste Directive. It would be good to have a conversation on how we can ensure that our renewable material is kept in the loop for longer through reuse and recycling to ensure we store as much carbon as possible and follow cascading use principles.

We would be grateful if such a meeting would be possible on 7 October (or on 10 November, when [REDACTED] will be in Brussels again).

Your office could kindly let us know through my Head of Corporate Affairs, who can be reached at [REDACTED]@storaenso.com, as well as my contact (details below).

I look forward to receiving your response and vividly hope we can secure this important high-level exchange.

Kind regards,

[REDACTED]
