Dear [REDACTED],

Since it appears that we cannot move our other meeting, we will unfortunately not be able to make it during your suggested timeslots.

Would it be possible to postpone the meeting to a later date – as of next week? If yes, could you provide us with times for then?

Thanks a lot for your kind support and have a wonderful day!

Dear [REDACTED],

Many thanks for your email!

Unfortunately, [REDACTED] now has a conflict during your suggested timeslot. However, he would be very keen on talking to [REDACTED] and can suggest the following timeslots:

- Monday 18 October, 15:30 – 16:30
- Tuesday 19 October, 13:30 – 14:30
- Wednesday 20 October, 16:00 – 16:45

Should none of the above work, [REDACTED] would be glad to hold a meeting virtually at a later point in time and would be glad to adapt to any timeslots you might suggest.

We look forward to hear back from you and thank you for your kind support.

Have a wonderful day!

Kind regards,

Subject: Request for a meeting with General Motors

Dear [REDACTED],

I hope this email finds you well.

On the basis of the last meeting you had with General Motors in April of this year, I am contacting you on their behalf to ask if you would be available for a follow up meeting in person or virtually.

While GM has no major operations in Europe, the EU remains an important market for GM as well as a driver of standards and regulation in the automotive sector globally. Therefore, it is critical for GM to anticipate and understand developments in Europe as well as interacting with EU stakeholders. GM would welcome the opportunity to exchange on the Sustainable and Smart Mobility Strategy and share the US perspective as well as to discuss the importance of an internationally harmonised framework for connected and automated vehicles.

[REDACTED], who is [REDACTED] at GM, would therefore very much appreciate the opportunity to talk to you between the 18th and 20th of October.

Thank you very much in advance for considering our request.

Kind regards,

[REDACTED]
