Dear [REDACTED],

It was good to talk to you today over the phone on the next steps of the NZEC project.

As discussed, we might envisage the next steering committee in the end of 2014 (but before or after the UNFCCC Lima COP 1.-12.12.2014) or in January 2015. The aim would be to be informed about the final versions of the three pre-feasibility studies, about the Chinese preference for one of them for the feasibility stage, and to discuss financial issues. Personally I think that these issues should be discussed in person and not over video-conference. For us both Beijing or Brussels (or another venue in Europe) would be possible as venue. Please kindly send me your preference in terms of timing and location at earliest convenience.

I would then come back to you with a proposed participants list from the European side.

On CCS I have been in contact over the last weeks with the two colleagues below, and you might also want to contact them in view of latest information from their respective countries, and intended possible funding on the issue.

Best regards,
