Subject

Gas infrastructure development in South East Europe

Dear Mr Šefčovič,

Fluxys as fully independent gas infrastructure company seeks to foster the integration of the European gas market and is currently present in 9 European countries. Our approach is to develop a cross-border infrastructure backbone linking gas sources to markets, bridging the markets and gas trading places, and providing security of supply.

As you might know Fluxys is partner in TAP and we are fully committed to the Southern Gas Corridor project. Our close involvement in TAP as well as our work for DESFA to look into the feasibility of creating a liquid wholesale market in Greece has allowed us to familiarize with the South East European markets, their challenges and the array of infrastructure projects being developed to gasify markets and increase security and diversity of supply.

With these projects maturing and a number of upstream project developments seeming to progress, we wish to express our willingness to invest and be an active partner in the infrastructure development in South East Europe. In this context, we would like to propose a meeting to be arranged at your convenience to discuss Fluxys' future involvement in the region.

Speaking to you in person would allow us to explain our approach as long-term industrial player, our preference to work through solid partnerships and our experience with cross-border gas infrastructure projects in Europe. It would also be an occasion to exchange views on how to build sound business cases for infrastructure projects in South East Europe and look into a number of concrete topics.

We look forward to hearing from you soon.

Yours sincerely,
