Dear [REDACTED],

Now it is my turn to apologise for the late response to your email. It would be a mix of both, particularly in the context of the Digital Single Market more generally; however, we are still waiting to hear back on the specific topics.

I was not aware that you are based in Luxembourg but perhaps we can get back in touch in the fall, once I have the precise answers to your questions to then see if a meeting can be organised?

Kind Regards and have a lovely weekend!

Dear [REDACTED],

Thank you for your mail. I am very sorry that I have not replied to you earlier.

I would like to ask you to provide more information about the purpose of this meeting. What exactly are the topics that [REDACTED] would like to discuss and Facebook is interested in? Is it about robotics specifically or the Digital Single Market more generally? If the former, what is Facebook's interest in robotics? Would the topics cover privacy and related aspects? Any further information you could provide on these would be helpful.

I do not know if you are aware, but I am not based in Brussels but Luxembourg.

Many thanks,

[redacted] has taken up this role within Facebook in January, having spent several years representing the company as [redacted].

He would be delighted to meet you for a discussion on EU level activities and policy concerning the development of robotic technologies, and how these fit in within the Digital Single Market work streams. He would also like the opportunity to share with you Facebook's own experiences and input in this area.

Would you have some availability for a meeting in the coming weeks?

Kind Regards,
