Dear [Name],

Just an additional remark to your mail below: as CEPE we have a long-standing recommendation to members to provide a safety data sheet for all products, irrespective of whether one is required according to Article 31 of REACH. (We have standard phrases that members can include, to distinguish whether the SDS is required according to REACH or supplied voluntarily.)

Therefore professional users of paints from our members would always receive an SDS, whether the product is classified/contains hazardous substances or not, and thus the ‘good practice’ safety advice shown in these examples. Several of these SDS are indeed for products not requiring an SDS to be supplied (even on request).

Best regards,

[Name], CEPE

CEPE aisbl - European Council of the Paint, Printing Ink and Artists’ Colours Industry