Dear [REDACTED]

Apologies to come back at you with bad news but we'll need to move the meeting scheduled for the 25/05.

Can you let me know your preference for after the 07/06?

I thank you very much for your understanding.

Kind regards,

Dear [Redacted]

On our side, the preference is next Wednesday (25/05) at 14h30 if it works for you.

Do you want to come to the Berlaymont (for a face-to-face meeting) or you prefer an online one?

If face-to-face is your preference, I'll need to have, for each participant on your side:

- Email address,
- Full name;
- ID number.

I stay at your disposal if needed.

Kind regards,

[Redacted]

Dear Roxana,

I trust my e-mail finds you well! As you may be aware, new leadership has been recently appointed in our organisation. Following up on that we would like to have meeting and catch up with you on the main policy files.

Please let us know about your availability in the next weeks. In the meantime, my colleague [REDACTED] has been in contact with the Cabinet to arrange for a meeting between Commissioner Valean and the [REDACTED] at some point in June.

Best regards,
